VIVE FONTAINE!

Greetings to all who come by these words.

VICTORY!!!!!! All of you who were able to make it to WAR and help us get the win I salute you. Those of you who were unable to attend, I'm sorry, you missed one heck of an event! The honor and valor displayed on the Field by Fontaine was amazing. Everyone fought their hearts out and I'm proud to say we are brothers and sisters.

Now that War is over, tournament season is upon us. It's time to get back in the 101 mindset and start honing our skills. There are a great many tournaments that are amazing to watch or fight in. One of those tournaments will be here shortly, Crown Tournament. I know none of us are going to fight in it, however, we should all be there to watch. The people who fight in crown are the cream of the crop. So get your learning hats on and let's make this a great season! War is great and fun, but nothing teaches self worth and skill like tournament season! See you on the Field.

YiS.

Knight Marshal

Why I Play in the SCA:

Trisha:

After my divorce, I found myself in my apartment with my kids all the time. We didn't go anywhere or really do anything. My neighbor's sister told me about the SCA, so I went to a fighter practice to check it out. Several people came up to me that day and made me feel welcome. They answered a lot of questions for me and made it clear that my questions and participation were most welcome. Initially, I joined so that the kids and I could do something together as a family that we were all interested in, that was more constructive than sitting around watching TV, and could be used to enhance their learning. Fontaine's atmosphere is very kid friendly which also made me feel welcome. After being in the environment, I came to love the people of Fontaine. I have continued to play because I enjoy myself and I have had a lot of help from people. I have found that I am a happier person now and I can only attribute that to the therapeutic qualities that playing has for me. At this point, I am not sure if I do it all for the kids, or if it is more for me now. I guess that sometimes all you need is a game to play that takes you out of the drudgery that is modern society so that you can recharge.

The people of Fontaine feel like family and their homes feel like my home too. I like the fact that other people are also watching out for the safety of my children. I also appreciate that there are other adults in the barony who are willing to help me teach my kids strong moral values. I have always believed that it takes a whole village to raise a child. Fontaine is the village that I want my children raised by.

Why I Play in the SCA:

Chedira:

I attended the Farmington Renaissance Faire in 2007 with the mindset that the people I saw were actors who did this semi professionally. I was delighted to find out that not only were the people involved normal people like me, they were also a local group! And I could join them! I attended a couple of fighter practices and got to know some of the people. I was amazed at how open and nonjudgmental they were.

I have always felt that modern society has lost something. It lost the ability to be courteous and kind to all. It lost the ability to respect people without trying to change them to fit some perceived ideal. It has become a society where the only thing that matters is that you win, often without regard for how you win.

The reason I play, is because I love it! I love the people. I love the glow of acceptance I feel whenever I am with Fontaine. I love the opportunity to experience what is now lost. I love learning and actually being able to try to do what I have learned, instead of just taking a test about it and then moving on to something else. I love it because the Virtues of Chivalry MATTER to me. I want to live by them and I want my son to live by them.

Greetings good gentles,

I come bearing great news, for if you have not yet heard, The OUTLANDS and her mighty allies were once again victorious on the rapier field at the grand Estrella War this year. It was my great privilege to fight along side of the warriors of one of the greatest fighting groups (in my humble opinion) that the OUTLANDS mustered. I found out that greatness sometimes comes from the most unforeseen places. This small but mighty force carried the name and honor of Fontaine dans Sable. On the tip of every blade that dripped the blue blood of fallen Caidians we cut through her ranks only to be met by our allies on the other side. We did the Green and Gold proud and I take my hat off to all of you. Well done! We could not have done all of this if it were not for the valiant Caidians and her allies, who even though they were outnumbered, they chose to stand proud and fight for their honor. And fight they did and honorable they were. SO, to Caid and her allies I salute them as well. Well fought!

Now that the war season is over we shall again sharpen our blades and steady our hands, for the tourney season is upon us. I urge all fighters new and old to draw steel and fight. I look forward to facing each and every one of you on a field of honorable combat. Always remember have fun and be safe! Hit light and take lighter!

Why I Play in the SCA

Leonardo

I first saw the SCA at the Farmington Renaissance Faire in 2007. I decided to join because everyone looked like they were having a lot of fun and I wanted to be a part of it. The more involved I became, the more activities I found that appealed to me. I come from a musically talented family and have been playing some type of instrument since I was 5 years old. As part of the SCA, I can learn more about music and instruments that were used in period. I am also fascinated by how things were made in period using simple tools and materials. I enjoy learning these methods and using them. I also enjoy the feeling that I get when someone calls me Schlepertinni. It's not just a name one picks out of a book. I had to earn it. I enjoy helping because it makes me feel like I am a valued part of the barony. Having my persona name turned into a nickname is an honor because of what it stands for. Acceptance, appreciation and praise.

Greetings unto Fontaine!

I hope that all of you who attended the Estrella War had a glorious and successful journey. Reports have been received of wondrous mighty battles led by the unrelenting forces of Fontaine. Once again, our Barony has shown prowess on the fields of battle.

Coming up very quickly is the Spring Crown Tournament for the Kingdom of the Outlands and we are hosting! Please volunteer to help Lady Anna as she prepares our Baronial land to host this tournament on March 14th and 15th. Crown Tournaments are full of pageantry and excitement and there is not a better way to observe our "game" in action than at one of these tournaments. It promises to be a wonderful time for all.

At the request of Lady Julianne, here is a short missive on why I became involved in the SCA. I observed a group of people that studied and practiced the Old Ways and it called to my soul. So much of what is missing in our modern, mundane world was to be found in the SCA. People were courteous and kind, women and children were treated with respect and men were men. Acts of chivalry are commonplace and respect for titled nobility is evident. Honor and loyalty are readily observed traits. In true tradition, the members of our Barony are a tightly knit group that support each other and consider all to be family. I challenge each and all of you to remain true to the Old Ways and make this experience a truly great one! There is no better "vacation" or "time away" than to spend a weekend totally immersed in a different type of world – our own SCA.

In Service to the Dream,

Lady Elgenora Banyel de la Roche

Chatelaine and AOT

Why I Play in the SCA

Evain

My introduction to the SCA many many years ago was through Mistress Richenza la Wydu who is an excellent person to introduce me to a wonderful game. At the time we were all living in Glenwood NM the heart of the Gila Wilderness. She was sort of homesteading in the far reaches of Loch Thiorern and had started a belly dance group The Azhar Dancers of the Gila. In return for teaching some of us ladies in the community to dance she made the request that each one of us dance in public at least once. We were all true to our promise and boy did we have fun. All of the Azhar Dancers decided to join the SCA and worked hard to create our personas and garb. And what a game. Dreams of chivalry and dancing and dressing up in garb and living as those lived in a lost time and going to WAR captured my imagination thus I began my journey. At that time I managed a small country store and she would come visit during my shifts and we would talk about the Dream. She instilled in me the high standards by which I hold all who play this game even today. The knowledge that we can all play this game better we can all become more and more the personifications of courtesy honor and chivalry were instilled within me early on.

My first event was daytripping to the City of Rocks an event cohosted by Loch Thiorern and Nahrain Kabirun. Watching the There Can Be Only One heavies tournament and seeing all the rapier fighting among the rocks sealed the deal I would be back for more. Early on I realized that I didn't just want to sit and watch I wanted to be an active part of all the fun. But what to do in Loch Thiorern. A small shire many of us would travel miles to Silver City just to attend a populace meeting. Archery turned out to be our answer. About four months after joining I bought a pound bow. I started shooting at straw bales almost killed the cat got a couple of pointers from my son who was shooting his compound bow at the time. When Clann Wars rolled around that year I showed up with some cheap wooden arrows and my pound bow. A truck drove up near the archery range and out got two men. I looked at them and yelled out to them. There are some real archers. They had it all: period dress, period bows, period arrows, period quivers that quintessential period look. They turned around, looked at me and thank God they adopted me. They were Steitan de Bogunschutz and Damian d'Antiocheas. It turned out two of the most esteemed and well thought of archers in the Outlands. They escorted me to the range and introduced me to the Marshall in Charge, a certain Ian Lindsey MacRae. All that day I shot archery. Poorly but increasingly better as the day passed. At one point Ian told me that I needed to try and shoot on the right side of the bow. Steitan whispered to me that it was okay. Ian only insulted the people he liked. I told Steitan not to worry that I could more than hold my own with that old man. That evening after shooting my pound bow all day I came away with a gift from Ian: an archery abacus, one of his early inventions, and a determination that I would be getting a higher poundage bow and better arrows and a period quiver and wow, this was all too cool for school.

With a lot of help from Ian who was then Captain of Archers for Nahem Kabem, we established our own archery program in Loch Phioem and I suddenly found myself Captain of Archers. Wow, what a wonderful group of people and wow, did we shoot some great archery together. Within months we had about six Forrester level archers and were fielding about archers every Sunday with a few guests showing up from time to time. We were all fortunate enough to be able to create our own archery ranges and would take turns hosting practice every Sunday. A truly wonderful beginning to this game of dreams, passion, adrenalin, rushes, service and imagination.
